

Things get bad for all of us, almost continually, and what we do under constant stress reveals who or what we are.

Charles Bukowski

1920 - 1994