

They work for a reason, for at least some kernel of interest that attracted them to their particular field or profession as a means of earning a paycheck.

So why not create an organization that can find out what that is and exploit it.

Ricardo Semler

1959 -