

Science requires a society because even people who are trying to be good thinkers love their own thoughts and theories — much of the debugging has to be done by others.

Alan Kay

1940 -