

Every year, there are dozens of telecommunications companies like Global Crossing, accounting firms like Arthur Andersen, retailers like Kmart or car companies like Volvo and Rover that overextend themselves, lose control over their business and end up broke or sold to competitors.

Ricardo Semler

1959 -