

It is one of the tragedies of the half-educated that they develop late, when they are already committed to some wrong way of life.

George Orwell

1903 - 1950