To be honest, the fact that people trust you gives you a lot of power over people.

Having another person's trust is more powerful than all other management techniques put together.

Linus Torvalds
1969 -